
WE HAVE ALWAYS been in the front ranks in opposing any move that would curtail any "home rule" aspect of our community.

But we cannot get too worked up in opposition to the suggested consolidation or merger of the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga Municipal court with other muni courts in the country.

The argument that such a court merger would just be another step toward centralization of all governmental organization in the county seems to us to be quite faulty.

In the first place, we have always felt that the judiciary should remain aloof from the petty partisan posturing that seems to be part and parcel of any political picture.

Admittedly it doesn't always work out that way. But we thought that was the general idea anyway.

Theoretically we submit that it should not make any difference what judge tries a case.

Where the judge lives or what his politics are; what color is his skin, or what church, if any, he attends should be immaterial.

We know that is just theory.

Still it does seem a bit incongruous to us to argue openly that "muni" courts should not merge because such a merger could remove a judge from his own community with his built-in local knowledge of a situation and "force" him to preside in another court on an impartial basis.

In our own naive way we had always thought that was the name of the game in the first place.

INCIDENTALLY, because of the passage of a new law, a "muni" judge no longer needs to live in the judicial district in which his court is located.

He can reside in any part of the county, just as in the case of superior court judges.

Thus, with or without merging, the successor to Judge 'Dusty' Rhodes in the local "muni" court could be as far removed from the local scene as the county borders allow.

We concede that in Dusty's case, this district was fortunate in having a judge who was definitely a part of the community and who sincerely tried to understand his community which Dusty considered was his entire district, including Los Gatos, Saratoga, Monte Sereno and Campbell.

Although Dusty resides in Saratoga, he has always been as interested in Campbell's problems as he was in Monte Sereno's or Saratoga's.

And one knows that Monte Sereno and Saratoga are a wee bit different than Campbell in some ways.

But Dusty is sort of the exception that you always hear about to prove the rule.

His sincerity and conscientiousness are so much a part of him that they seem to send beams to all those within radar range.

So he was an exception.

And let's remember that the court building will be there on Pollard and used no matter who Dusty's successor will be.

And, we doubt that we are going to get another Judge Rhodes with or without consolidation of the court. Very few jurists or any other persons for that matter will have Dusty's empathy to HIS district.

So, frankly, people, if we don't get too exercised over this court consolidation bit, maybe you can blame it onto those tranquilizers that we took at the Campbell Community Hospital.

But with or without tranquilizers–we think we would feel the same way. With tranquilizers we just don't shout as loudly.

AS A "SCAREDY CAT", as far as doctors and hospitals are concerned, we must admit that, if our lack of enthusiasm over our forced inactivity during the past few weeks has been obvious, the reason is simple.

That's the way it is with us

Council protests court merger

Members of the Campbell City Council Monday night adopted a resolution protesting the proposed merger of the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga Judicial District with the San Jose-Milpitas-Alviso judicial district or any other district.

The unanimous decision was reached after Councilman Ralph Doetsch pointed out that the merger would not produce any economy and would result in increased expenses to the city in the form of extra time involved in city personnel having to attend court sessions which might be held in Sunnyvale or other judicial districts.

A strong argument to support the protest was found by the council members in the deputization of local rule. The present judicial system of local municipal courts was based on an area of approximately 30,000 population. Council members felt that the danger in the proposed merger would result in the judges being set up on a rotating assignment, and that the peoples court would be lost. Judges would probably be elected by the entire county rather than on a local basis if the proposed merger is put through.

Action on the part of the council resulted in the resolution protesting the merger being forwarded to the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors asking for an "immediate halt to all proceedings, political, legal or advisory, now directed towards a proposed merger". Copies of the resolution will also be filed with the Association of Municipal Judges, the State Judicial Council, Santa Clara County Bar Association, West Valley Bar Association and also to Governor Ronald Reagan.

OTHER ACTION

Other action by the City Council resulted in legalizing the sale of unclaimed and found property which up until this time had been sold on the sheriff's authority rather than the city action;

A re-appointment as representative to the Campbell Chamber of Commerce of Ralph Doetsch;

A health insurance policy for Mrs. Velma Olds, city treasurer, who will now be insured under a Blue Cross 65 plan for $4 per month.

A vote by the council to support a League of California Cities recommendation that the cigarette tax formula be changed to a combination sales tax plus population which would result in increased revenue to Campbell of $5243 if adopted.

An adoption by the city of a proposed bicycle route through Campbell which would channel bicycle riders transversing the county on marked and specified routes as requested by the county.

It isn't necessary to go to the Motor Vehicle Department to obtain your 1968 license stickers. Wells Fargo Bank in Campbell has one window reserved for the issuance of the '68 stickers.

All you need is your 1968 automobile registration card and the cash or check for the fees. February 5 is the last date for renewing registration without penalty.

Receives promotion

On the recommendation of John Morgan, Chief of Police, members of the Campbell City council Monday night promoted Don Burr from the position of lieutenant to second captain, retro-active to Jan. 1.

This action eliminates the position of lieutenant, as it had become evident that the relationship and degree of responsibility of Captain Carl Arnold and Lt. Burr had become nearly equal, thus creating an inequity by having a pay differential between the two men filling these positions.

At the same time council members established a new salary range for both men, falling between the original recommended salary for a captain and a lieutenant, resulting in a total salary savings of $387.00 to the city. Salaries have been pegged at $1,011 per month for both.

Captain Burr will be in charge of the patrol division. Captain Arnold will be in charge of investigation, records and identification.

City council filing opens January 25

Thursday, Jan. 25 is the first day for candidates to the Campbell City Council to file nomination papers, according to Mrs. Dorothy Trevethan, City Clerk. The final day for filing is February 15.

There will be three vacancies on the Council this year with the expiration of the terms of Mayor Edward J. Rogers, Vice Mayor Bill Smeed and Councilman Charles Rose.

Nomination papers may be taken out by supporters of a candidate, but the candidates must return them personally and sign them before the City Clerk.

To be eligible for nomination, a candidate must be a resident of Campbell for at least one year. Five signatures of registered voters are required on the nomination papers.

Parking O.K.

Although the "no parking" signs and red curb paint have been removed from S. Winchester between Campbell and Budd Ave. motorists still appear to be uncertain about parking there. Apparently drivers have been "conditioned" to no parking on Winchester for so many years, they have to be educated to the change.

City okays pay raises

Campbell City employees came away from the City Council meeting Jan. 3 with higher salaries and more fringe benefits than they have ever enjoyed before.

In a report to the member of the Employees Association, David Valkenaar, president, said that out of 34 positions, 28 are above the salary survey averages. Those positions include 92 percent of the classified employees.

The Employees Association had made their own separate salary survey and recommendations to the City Manager. Valkenaar, in his report, said he felt the Association's survey had a positive effect in influencing the highest possible salary levels consistent with the city's ability to pay.

The salary increases for classified employess range from $9 to $22 per month. Department heads also received increases, ranging from $35 to $156 a month. A portion of these raises will go into effect retroactive to Jan. 1, and the balance will be paid beginning on Mar. 1, 1968.

RECONSIDERS

At last night's meeting, the Councilman reconsidered their wage increases for City Clerk and City Manager. They had originally agreed upon a $25 monthly increase for City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan and a $50 monthly raise to City Manager Robert Stephens. They voted to increase Mrs. Trevethan an additional $10, making her increase $35 per month. Her 1968 pay envelope will now be $885 per month. City Manager Robert Stephens, who has been paid $1500 per month, was upped to $1585.

The question of a differential in wages between the Fire and Police Departments which was recommended by the city manager, was left unchanged this year. Stephens had recommended that Police Officers should have a higher wage classification because of the need to attract more applicants.

FRINGE BENEFITS

Fringe benefits for city employees in 1968 include a more liberal policy on paid overtime for Public Works and Public Safety personnel. Unused sick leave will be compensated for upon termination, retirement or death. They will also receive one extra holiday and Friday off, if Christmas, New Years, July 4 or Memorial Day fall on a Saturday. Employees of 15 years duration will receive twenty days vacation. Shorter hours were agreed upon for the Fire Department. The Fire Dept. is being reduced from 67.2 hours to 63 hours.

APPRECIATION

Valkenaar told the Employees Association that their wage increases and additional fringe benefits are due in part to the open-mindedness and just treatment accorded them by the City Manager, and urged all members of the association to give him a personal word of thanks.

Building up in '67

Building activity in Campbell took a big leap forward during 1967, with an increase of $1,707,414 over 1966.

In his year-end report Wally Byron, Campbell building official told the Press the total amount of building in Campbell in 1967 reached $5,593,220 in comparison to $3,885,806 in 1966.

MORE HOMES

There were 129 single family homes built in the city in 1967 against 66 last year. Apartment units were also up in 1967 with 112 units built as compared with 60 units in 1966.

Commercial and industrial activity remained about the same as in 1966. Commercial construction totalled $917,207 and industrial activity amounted to $474,898 in 1967.

The total fees collected by the Building Department for the issuance of permits in 1967 amounted to $33,974.75 as compared to $20,528.50 in 1966, showing an increase in fees to the City of $13,446.25.

From all present indications, the construction activity in Campbell will remain at the same level in 1968, Byron predicted.

Single family dwellings should number approximately 130, and multiple residential should not exceed single family dwellings. Both commercial and industrial should be of a higher valuation than in 1967

Editorial

Cost of living

The phrase, "cost of living" has now become almost as much a part of the vocabulary used in any discussion pertaining to salaries today as "take-home-pay".

Financial and economic experts labor long and hard to establish a formula to show how much the "cost-of-living" has increased each year.

But most housewives are aware of the rise in costs with or without the benefit of any formula.

We note that "cost-of-living" increase played an important role in the recent action taken by the City Council establishing the annual pay and classification scale for city employees.

And that is the way it should be. When costs go up, the "take-home-pay" just won't stretch as far as before obviously.

We firmly believe that any increase in the cost-of-living should be considered when developing any equitable pay plan for employees either in government or in private enterprise.

In fact it can't be avoided.

Although private enterprise must and does consider the cost-of-living factor, there are times when it is impossible to do anything about the situation, financially speaking, that is.

For example, if a firm has had a bad year, obviously increasing salaries is not going to help its fiscal position. And, in most cases, the employees of the business recognize that and are willing to wait until better times come.

But a government employee whether on a city, county, state or federal level, expects and generally gets a cost-of-living increase each year.

A profit and loss balance sheet is not a part of their fiscal picture.

We have often heard governmental employees on all levels complain that private enterprise offers so many more advantages to the individual than public agencies do.

We suppose that is basically true, if one considers the giant industrial empires that do exist today and the many flourishing private enterprises that are booming.

But the term "private enterprise" encompasses a wide field. There are little private enterprises such as The Campbell Press and huge ones like the San Jose Mercury-News. The only common denominator in that case is that they are both classified as newspapers. And there are hundreds of similar examples.

Admittedly the "little guy" today is having a tougher struggle than ever before in just keeping his head afloat. And he, too, is affected by the "cost-of-living".

But there is nothing that he can do about it except take in his belt buckle a couple of notches.

What we have been trying to point out in this long-winded editorial on the subject is that despite what governmental employees may think, just because the cost-of-living goes up, it does not necessarily follow that salaries will automatically do likewise everywhere.

In some instances there is this thing called profit and loss.

Congratulations

The Campbell Press offers its congratulations to the new officers and directors of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. We are convinced that the C of C leadership is in capable hands.

The year 1968 will be the "big one" for this community in a variety of ways and the Chamber of Commerce must continue to play a leading role.

We have long argued that it is necessary to have a strong C of C working hand-in-hand with the city administration, if the goals of the community are to be attained.

This rapport between the city and the C of C is now at the highest level in this community's history and we know that this excellent relationship will continue under the new C of C administration.

The new president of the Chamber of Commerce, Ken Mantle, a representative of New York Life, offers this community enthusiasm, intelligence and leadership ability. We are convinced that there will be great accomplishments in his term of office.

The two vice-presidents, Neal Royer, superintendent of the Campbell elementary school district, and Arland Hatfield, manager of the Campbell branch of First National, have also demonstrated their eagerness to build a better Chamber of Commerce and have enthusiastically cooperated in all C of C activities.

A "hold-over" officer is Bob Bullard, CPA, who served as treasurer last year and has again accepted the office. The C of C is fortunate in having a man of Bob's knowledge and background handle the purse strings of the organization.

The Campbell Press is confident that the Chamber of Commerce will have a banner year under such leadership and with the able direction of Len Edholm, C of C manager.

Truly, 1968 should be a year of action.

Coming-of-age

One of the best bits of evidence indicating that our community has "come of age", in our opinion, was the appointment by the City Council of Don Hebard and Hank Cary to the Parks and Recreation Commission.

By "coming of age" we simply mean a new interest has been developed in our community stemming from the action on the grass roots level that took place last year which resulted in the passage of the city's bond issue.

We do not mean to imply that there had not been top-notch civic leaders with community interest prior to the bond issue. That would be silly.

What we mean is that the bond issue campaign stimulated the interest in their city on the part of many capable citizens to such a degree that many of them desire to continue to work for the advancement of their city in any way they can. Both Hebard and Cary, you may recall, were active in the citizen groups in the bond campaign.

We think this "coming of age" is the best thing that happened to this city in ages.

and we find it difficult to hide our feelings.

Although we have not tried to make a Federal case out of our problem, in this community we have not been too successful in concealing the fact that we weren't on the job.

After all, as we said, after 21 consecutive years, (more than a decade here in Campbell) of not missing a day for illness reasons, a pattern has been set–we're supposed to be around.

Anyway the solicitude shown by those who learned why we weren't around, was extremely gratifying.

One of the most appreciative calls came from BILL DIXON who had learned that our predicament was similar to one he had been saddled with recently.

It was reassuring to hear Bill describe how routine the whole procedure apparently is. Especially to a sissy like we are about such things, it meant a great deal to us.

For the record, Bill recalled that the toughest and most painful part of the whole shebang was removing the adhesive tape from his chest.

Thanks, Bill—

But–unfortunately our hairline as in your case, has only receded on our head–not our chest—

OUCH!

LAST WEDNESDAY, we officially relinquished the gavel as president of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce to Ken Mantle, who will preside during 1968.

Unfortunately we were in absentia for the gavel exchange.

But the exchange took place without a hitch, with Harry Lind, the efficient vice-president last year, doing the honors for the past prexy by proxy.

The Chamber of Commerce is fortunate in having a man of the caliber of Ken Mantle to assume the mantle of C of C president.

He has the leadership qualities that will move the C of C forward and 1968 should be a great year.

His two vice presidents, Neal Royer and Arland Hatfield, give him the "back-up" power that will make the C of C go ahead.

Bob Bullard, treasurer, the city's lone "CPA", has accepted another year as keeper-of-the-books and will again valiantly try to keep the C of C on a straight, if not narrow, fiscal path for next year.

Bob did a great job this past year for which we are deeply grateful.

We were particularly disappointed because we were forced to miss presiding at our last official C of C board meeting of our year because that meeting is the one when the "outgoing"– "holdover" and "incoming" directors all show up.

The "outgoing" directors are always jovial and enthusiastic about the year ahead. (Their responsibility for attaining the objectives has been lessened.)

The "incoming" board members are also enthusiastic about the year ahead and somewhat apprehensive of how much responsibility they must carry individually–

The "holdover" directors, on the other hand, are in the driver's seat.

They know enthusiasm is essential and they have it or they wouldn't agree to be "holdovers".

On the other hand, they also know that the objectives outlined at the first meeting probably will not be reached during the year.

They accept their responsibility but also they recognize that if all of them get an "E" for effort for their activities during the next year, that's all it will take to be successful.

And we have a hunch that is what is going to happen with the new administration.

-o-

AS USUAL (AFTER ALL by now we have our experience record to go by), everyone was not happy over the pictures the staff picked for the traditional pictorial review of the year that appeared in the last issue of 1967, (Dec. 27).

There were some who argued that their particular activity warranted precedence over some of the photos that appeared.

We couldn't agree more.

But we tried.

And trying to fit the proper pictures into the space available was a logistics problem that defies solution.

It's worse than putting a square object into a round hole. In a case like that you CAN round the edges.

But some important 1967 photos just couldn't be "rounded" or "squared"– So they were left out–So we heard about it—

We would have been disappointed, if we hadn't heard from the malcontents.

When a person doesn't feel that his outfit is the best there is and is deserving of every bit of recognition that can be attained, then that person has lost something.

Everyone has to be basically selfish about his own field of endeavor.

A newspaper is selfish too– in its attempt to do its job as a community's medium.

But you can't win 'em all.

And you can't please 'em all.

Capital Countdown

BY SENATOR ALFRED ALQUIST

Property tax reform is one matter that will be very much on the minds of legislators as we begin the 1968 session this month. Several committees have devoted a great deal of time to studying possible property tax relief alternatives which will be considered and acted upon.

When Governor Reagan asked for state tax increases last year, he pledged some $155 million would be used for relief of school taxes which represent some 54% of local property taxes.

Investigations have brought out some interesting facets of the tax reform question which indicate property tax relief may not be as beneficial to the average taxpayer as it sounds.

For example, a report from the office of the state legislative analyst to the Senate's Revenue and Taxation Committee claims that less than one-third of state money used to provide across-the-board local property tax relief would benefit owners of single family residences occupied by these owners.

The report says, "Seventy percent of any across-the-board or general type of relief will initially benefit the owners of business, industrial, farm, utility and rented residential properties."

"The degree of rapidity by which these initial tax savings will be passed on to California consumers is open to question."

This is important since the money to finance property tax relief comes from the state sales tax which hits every consumer directly. If the legislature fails to enact property tax relief, the sales tax will be automatically reduced on July 1, 1968 by one-half cent.

In California, according to the report, owner-occupied single family residences account for only 30.2 percent of assessed valuation.

The rest include rented single-family residences, 10.1 percent; multiple family residences, 5.8 percent; farms, 8.6 percent; vacant lots, 2.3 percent; commercial and industrial, 30 percent, and railroads and public utilities, 13 percent.

The legislative analyst also presented alternative methods of providing property tax relief.

Specific relief might be provided through grants to home-owners or to owners of inventories or other types of business personal property or of household property. And local governments also might be reimbursed for veterans and various welfare exemptions from the property tax, according to the report.

Also outlined was a possible form of general tax relief by allocating state funds to local government to offset the levy on property. The greatest amount would go to agencies with the highest tax rate under this alternative.

Committees conducting hearings have also heard from other sources that the property tax on household furnishings should be repealed.

The state board of equalization, for instance, has repeatedly urged the exemption of household property, a spokesman said. "It is impossible for assessors to evaluate accurately household furnishings and personal effects. So assessors generally adopt rules of thumb."

And the state department of finance is urging that the business inventories tax should be phased out, and the state should provide for replacing the revenue lost at the local level.

Some business interests have contended the taxation on business inventories places California businesses at a competitive disadvantage with respect to their counterparts in states which do not tax inventories.

Building

above is a good "guesstimate", as the amount of money that is available to contractors certainly determines the amount of building - more so than supply or demand. This could lessen the amount of building in Campbell, but on the other hand if any of the large parcels of property are developed commercially or industrially next year by a large commercial firm, the City's building valuation could be increased more than expected.

FIGHT CANCER with a CHECK-UP

Q. - Can a thorough examination to detect cancer be performed in a physician's office?

A. - Yes, most cancers can be detected in the physician's office. The physician knows when and how to arrange for further special examinations, if needed, and how to interpret the results of such examinations.

Q. - Is a cancer specialist the only physician able to detect cancer in a health checkup?

A. - No. Every practicing physician has training in cancer detection and is supplied with latest information in medical journals and materials provided through medical societies and the American Cancer Society.

Q. - What is a health checkup?

A. - It consists of a health interview followed by a thorough physical examination. Usually, the body surface is inspected, followed by examination of various organs or areas such as the heart, blood vessels, lungs, mouth, nose, ears, eyes throat, abdomen, rectum, sex organs and breasts. The blood, urine, uterine cells, or other body fluids may be examined or tested as necessary. Other examinations deemed by the physician, such as proctosigmoidoscopic examination or x-rays of parts of the body, may also be performed.

Q. - How long is it safe to wait after signs of possible cancer have appeared before consulting a physician?

A. - Waiting is unsafe. Any delay may be dangerous.

Q. - How can a physician tell if a growth is cancer?

A. - Through a complete case history and physical examination, in conjunction with a biopsy.

Q. - What is a proctosigmoidoscopic examination?

A. - It is a visual inspection of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel with a lighted tube.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I have had an unfortunate experience with the Santa Clara County Tax office. I think other people can profit from my experience.

I have two places in the County; one at 1745 Hacienda which is a rental - not furnished. Also I have my home at 111 S. San Tomas Aquino Rd.

The Santa Clara Tax office has charged me personal property tax on both places, although I have written to them for three years trying to get them to take the personal property tax off of one place as it has been rented unfurnished.

This year I took a letter down myself. And got them to sign for it. So this year they have taken off $20.88. I feel that they still owe me $62.64 plus interest at the same rate they charge.

I wrote to them several times but I sent it to the Tax Collector instead of the Tax Assessor and he never sent it upstairs to the Tax Assessor, just two floors apart.

So in my book that is taking money dishonestly and I bet they collect thousands of dollars from the people who have two houses or more.

Yours truly,

Councilmen have tight schedule

Campbell City Councilmen and Planning Commissioners will host the representatives of the Sutter Hill Development and the Payne-Winchester Developers at a joint meeting tonight (Jan. 10).

A spokesman for the Prudential Life Insurance Company and another broker are expected to be present. Purpose of the confab according to City Manager Bob Stephens, is to discuss the plans for developing these two areas.

The use of gas tax money and a policy on minor street repairs will be the subject of the City Council study session slated for Jan. 15, at 7:30 p. m.

There also will be a joint meeting of all boards, Chamber of Commerce and council and planning commissioners on Wednesday, Jan. 17, to go over the 701 Program, which is the City's overall five year civic improvement plan.

Here's a tip on expediting your tax refund

Here's a message for taxpayers who want their tax refund checks expedited-use the pre-addressed "Piggy-Back" label that comes with your blank Income Tax Form this year.

Joseph M. Cullen, District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern California said that this pre-addressed label perfectly matches your tax account in the computers memory bank and allows the Internal Revenue Service to cut down on the time it takes to process your return.

If you make a mistake or your blank form is mutilated, please peel off the top label and attach it to the return that you file. If someone else prepares your return ask him to use your pre-addressed tax return.

Here's another tip that will help expedite your refund - use the pre-addressed envelope that came with your income tax return. It sends your return directly to the Service Center where the returns are processed and the refunds are made.

Our Town

In case you've been wondering about the brilliant green lawn at CAMPBELL HIGH SCHOOL these days...you're right, it is paint. You see Campbell has a good crop of Bermuda grass which turns yellow in the winter. So, for the sake of morale (?) BOB BARBERRI (Maintenance Dept. Business Manager) reports they spray the front lawns with the green lawn paint, which not only beautifies but seals the ground against freezing and has some insecticide value. It doesn't rub off and lasts for many months. It took about 20 gallons of the stuff to cover the Winchester and Campbell sides of the schools....

Another paint job has just been completed at the First Congregational Church on West Campbell Ave. It looks great...

HERE'S an interesting "boo boo"...Our part-time feature writer, SALLY HOWE, was called by the WELLS FARGO BANK to return her box of lovely new scenic Stage Coach Checks, which she had been saving to start the new year with. It seems as though there was an electronic error on the checks and they would not go through the computing machines right. AHA!

THIS AND THAT...

The many friends of CLAUDE SMITH, 735 Budlawn Way, will be happy to learn he is on his way to recovery following surgery at Stanford Hospital. Incidentally Smith's team of physicians included the now famous heart transplant physician, DR. ROBERT SHUMWAY...

Two local dentists, DR. ROGER L. KISNER and DR. JOHN W. ZIEGLER, are among those expected to attend the 72nd annual scientific meeting of U.C. Dental Alumni Association in San Francisco Jan. 15 and 16 at the Hilton Hotel...

JUDY HOWLAND, Campbell Adult Education Art Teacher who has devoted the last four years "promoting" Campbell–art wise–was in for a big surprise when she attended an adult education dinner during the holidays. She received a certificate of award naming her one of three "outstanding" adult education teachers in the Metropolitan Adult Education system...

CAMPBELL KIWANIS CLUB held their installation dinner at LOS GATOS LODGE last evening with PETE PETERSON installed as the new president...

ANY housewife with a car who is willing to provide transportation for four little children in the San Tomas area to attend the "Head Start" School at St. Lawrence Episcopal Church is asked to call 378-2746...This would be a fine way to show "community spirit".

Campbell 4-H has busy month

Campbell 4-H members were busy in December. Paulette and Eric Antonicic gave a demonstration on their beef project. At the community meeting, Marie Brown, a gold medal winner in Foreign Foods, was presented a pin. The meeting concluded with refreshments and games.

The group was busy selling Post-A-Notes and Just-A-Notes. This money went into the Community Club Treasury for future Club events.

Fun was had by all when the club went ice and roller skating at Christmas time.

They also went to the Santa Cruz mountains and cut four Christmas trees. After Christmas caroling everyone went to Eric Antonicic's house where they made decorations and decorated the trees. They also filled Christmas baskets with food. The trees and food were given to needy families.

Girl Scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD 15

Three Cadette Girl Scouts from Troop 55, Rolling Hills School, toured the main San Jose post office on Meridian as part of their work on the Stamp Collector badge.

Nancy Riley, Vicki Chaides, and Leslie Tobey were accompanied by Mrs. James Riley on this interesting excursion.

Some of the highlights of their visit were seeing mail automatically sorted, cancelled and tied, buying new stamps just issued, understanding the importance of zip code, finding out the procedure for "dead" letters and packages, and discovering the immediate raising of postal rates.

Each girl was given a detailed map of the post office, showing the various work areas. The girls came away with a much more appreciative viewpoint of what happens after a letter is dropped in a mailbox.

Troop leaders are Mrs. James St. Germaine, Mrs. Nino Candelaria, Mrs. Thomas Slankard.

Del Mar Sports

by Ed Gibson

Last week was a winning one for Del Mar's varsity basketball and wrestling teams.

The Don's basketball squad scored two wins last week against what was thought to be the toughest teams in the league-Branham and Camden.

Loren Toews led Del Mar to their win over Branham Jan. 3, scoring 10 straight free throws in the fourth quarter, and totaling 21 points for the game. The final score was 66-56,

Coming back from loss to Camden at the Sunnyvale Tournament, where the Don's placed a disappointing fifth, Del Mar surprised them 49-41 last Friday. Todd Martin and Hugh McCain led the Don's with 15 points each, followed by Don Transeth with 10, Toews with seven, and Bob Lee with two.

The Don's will face Campbell's basketball team this Friday night at Del Mar.

Camden also fell to the hands of the Del Mar wrestling team 41-6. Steve Jacob, Ron Ardiozone, Werner Haase and Ken Pauloff of Del Mar all pinned their opponents. Also winning their matches were Terry Bradford, Gary Shimada, Tim Kerr, Ray Weber, John Aiello, Milt Landers and Bob Smith.

Campbell will be the Don's grapplers' next opponent this Friday.

Basketballers open season with surprises

Campbell High School broke a consecutive string of 26 league losses to beat Los Gatos 65 to 62 in their first basketball meet Wednesday afternoon. Stan Hedegard, Chuck Hawthorne and Ingo Ukat managed to offset the 28-point output of the Wildcats' Stu Goesch. Los Gatos never led in the game.

Del Mar upset Branham 66 to 56. An exciting fourth quarter had the fans on their feet as Branham tried desperately to catch up. Loren Toews sparked Del Mar's last quarter with some determined work.

Camden was a leader all the way in their game against Westmont. The final score was 64 to 55.

Blackford held Leigh winless with a 53-33 landslide.

I'm impressed with "movement exploration"

SALLY HOWE

I'm Impressed with "Movement Exploration"

"What's the matter with those kids out there on the playground? They're standing like they were frozen and just a minute ago they were jumping up and down."

"Listen, that teacher blew her whistle and now they're moving again, but look, what kind of play is that–each child is PLAYING ALONE!"

If you didn't realize what you were watching, the antics of children involved in the "Movement Exploration" program puzzles the uninitiated, but five minutes of explanation would not only cancel your doubts, but would make you a "believer."

"Movement Exploration" is a course of study, developed by San Jose City College Instructor Layne Hackett and Palo Alto teacher Robert Jensen.

Madeline Hale, Dover fifth grade teacher, signed up for the five-day summer school course last year at University of California at Santa Cruz. According to Mrs. Hale, the class lasted all day, every day, so while at the end of the first day she found her body somewhat stiff, on the third she was numb, but by the fifth she felt equipped to carry the program back to her school.

Participating students in the program, of course, do not get stiff. For one thing, the physical exercise period required at school seldom exceeds thirty minutes; for another, 10 and 11 year olds are considerably more supple than adults.

IT'S DIFFERENT

"Movement Exploration" is NOT "just another P.E. program." For as Mrs. Hale makes plain, she is not a P.E. teacher, but here she feels qualified to instruct her students.

This exciting program teaches the children to explore their own capabilities in an endless variety of SELF movements.

Teacher direction is minimal in the program, excepting that Mrs. Hale employs a short sharp whistle blast to draw the youngsters attention. (Hence, the "frozen" children referred to in the opening paragraph).

The period may start thusly:

Whistle blast. Instruction: Run in a circle. Whistle blast. Run the other way. Whistle blast. Spell the word "jump." Now jump the word "jump." Whistle blast. Spell the word "hop". Now hop the word "hop". W.B. Skip a rectangle. W.B. Hop a square. W.B. How high can you jump? W.B. How low can you jump? W.B. Balance on three parts of your body (on four, on five, on six, on seven, etc.). W.B. Get a partner. One of you make a bridge and the other one go under the bridge. W.B. See how unusual you can make your bridge. W.B. Go get a ball. W.B. Bounce the ball with the left hand. W.B. Bounce it with the right....

The variations are endless. The youngsters each return the balls and get a jump rope. They form themselves into the shape of the rope, jump it forwards and backwards, with a partner, etc.

One of the most impressive activities uses individual hoola hoops. (Yes, they're back–but Mrs. Hale had the "sound" removed from them.) The students have learned to run through a moving hoop, roll it backwards, revolve it around their ankles and take a pair and making a moving puzzle for another student to jump through.

NO TWO THE SAME

At this point, any person with children might reasonably counter with "So what? My kid could do all that!"

And this is no doubt true. But if you have more than one child, WOULD EACH CHILD PERFORM THE EXERCISES IN THE SAME MANNER?

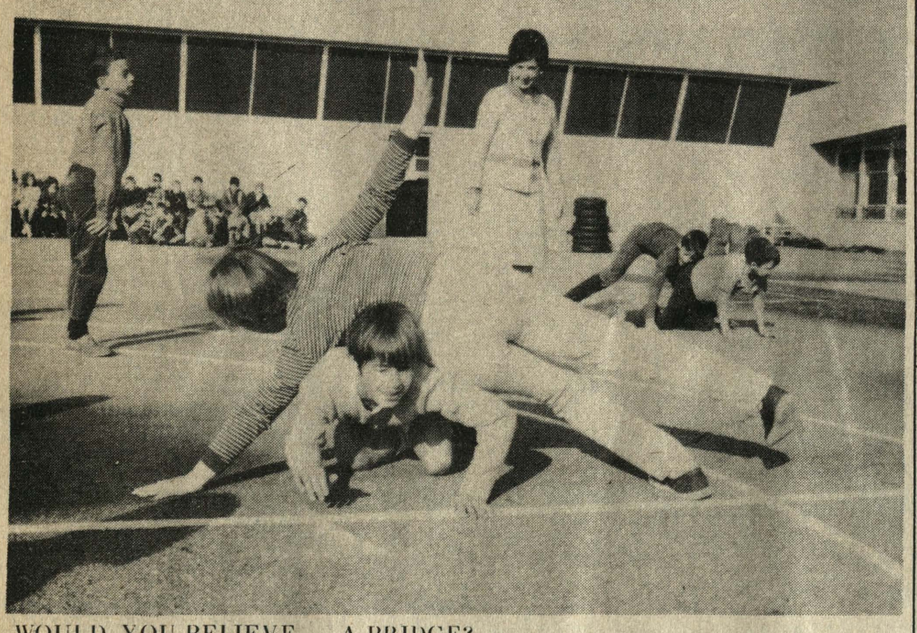
For, not only does each child use his own imagination capabilities and resources, but, he WINS. Contrary to the popular good-sport-producing "team" game, this individual activity is WITHIN THE RANGE OF EVERY HEALTHY CHILD.

Fresh from an outdoor (or in poor weather, inside) activity where he feels he did well, it is only natural that the student carries over a portion of his "good" feeling into classroom studies.

Mrs. Hale's enthusiasm has infected her fellow teachers who are also trying the program. The most difficulty she encountered has been getting equipment to carry out her ideas. She located a place which would give her old rubber tires, and is expectantly waiting for the delivery of some "tubers" (tractor size inner tubes). Parents helped make balance boards and a balance beam; cardboard boxes are recruited from a grocery store. Ropes and balls and hoolahoops were expenses which Mrs. Hale's class wasn't budgeted for, but her daily requests persuaded administrators of her sincerity in carrying out the program.

Evident also in the program are the effects of organization (chairman in charge of setups, equipment, etc.) so that educators can be assured the physical education is by no means the only subject being taught.

TIGHTROPE WALKERS --WITHOUT A CIRCUS



WOULD YOU BELIEVE --A BRIDGE?

PERFORM THIS WEEK-END-Final performances of "The Fortune Teller" presented by The Young People's Operetta Guild, will be Friday, Jan. 12 and Saturday, Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. at Rogers Jr. High School, 4835 Doyle Rd. Deborah Haynes and Gina Albright (left to right) are two of the ballet dancers in the show.

Tickets may be obtained by calling 379-1664.

Jaycees seek nominations for city's "young man of year"

The Campbell Jaycees has formed a committee to seek nominations for the outstanding young man of the year in the city, according to Don King, Jaycee president.

The committee, headed by Nozer Haladwala, is actively canvassing churches, business clubs and organizations to determine which young man - 21 through 35 -has contributed the most to the community during the year.

The distinguished service award winner from Campbell will be entered in the California Jaycee contest.
